Series Of Minor Auto Accidents Around South Bay

A number of highway accidents of minor importance as to injuries but several of them resulting in considerable damage to the cars involved took place in the South Bay area this last week.

Three cars were involved in an accident on State Road 80 adjacent to the South Bay Sugar Plantation, Saturday evening, about dusk. It was thought at first that several of the occupants of the cars were injured but they got up and walked away without difficulty once the shock had worn off. Chief of Police R. C. White and the highway patrol investigated the accident.

A negro woman driver who evidently was just learning to drive lost control of her car and very nearly injured a group of pedestrians on the curve west of South Bay at the Davis corner Sunday.

Two trucks collided on Highway 27 in front of the Bradway Garage last week during a light rain fall, the accident partly being due to the wet pavement it was reported.

The same afternoon about 15 miles south of South Bay on the Miami Highway a car skidded on the highway in passing another vehicle and turned over in the roadside ditch, almost demolishing the car but not injuring the driver who was alone at the time. His name was not learned.

One of the farm trucks belonging to Perry Register was turned over in the roadside ditch at the junction of North East Canal Street and State Road 80 morning. A white negro driver stated that he had pulled up the incline and had to stop for passing traffic and that the truck rolled back down the incline and went into the ditch. The Lamoureux wrecker pulled the truck out and righted it. It was not damaged.

Tag Day To Be Observed This Coming Saturday

Mormon Speaker To Be In Belle Glade On November 18

Mrs. H. B. Walker announces that Dr. D. L. Campbell, of Ft. Lauderdale, is convalescent and out of the hospital after his recent hospitalization and that he plans to be with the Church of Latter Day Saints at the American Legion Hall on November 28. All Mormons in the Everglades are cordially invited to attend this and regular Sunday services at the Belle Glade American Legion Hall, she stated.

Three visiting elders, Beryl Stumway, Andrew Caras and Elder Davis, traveling elders supervising the South Florida district, were guest speakers at the services last Sunday. A collection was taken at the evening service to purchase Sunday School Song books. Lesson leaflets for the year have already been ordered.

4-H Clubs Meet

The South Bay 4-H Clubs met at the school Tuesday. Assistant Agent John Causey was in charge of the boys program and illustrated his talk with a film.

The girls club was under direction of Assistant Home Demonstration Agent Mrs. Mildred Michael. At a short business session they decided to support the county recommendation to meet each week instead of bi-monthly.

Mrs. Michael will continue to be in charge on the first and third Tuesdays, one of which will be a business meeting and the other a work session.

Mrs. Laura Willis, local leader, will be in charge on alternate weeks, the second and fourth Tuesdays in each month.

They then adjourned to the cafeteria and divided into two groups. One table continued work at their regular sewing under direction of Mrs. Willis. The second table were engaged in painting pie plate wall plaques.

Next week they will finish the painting and sewing projects now under way.

Football Banquet For Rams To Be Staged At High School Cafeteria

It has been the custom for a number of years for the Lions club to extend a season end banquet to the Golden Ram team, but this year, that function has been cut off the program. In its place, the Belle Glade schools, will arrange for such a banquet to be given at the Cafeteria, for the various school groups who have had a part in the football season work, it being strictly an invitation affair for the school people alone.

New York Operator Joins In Corn Deal In The Everglades

Donald Coon, who in season operates large corn projects in the Hudson valley of New York and in parts of Virginia, has arrived in Belle Glade, and has become interested in the sweet corn deal here.

Mr. Coon has leased a half section of land from the Butledge estate and has a crop coming on. His produce will be sent to an established market which he has been supplying for years past.

Mr. Coon finds corn culture here in the Glades very different than in the north, but being an experienced grower, he shows much aptitude for the requirements here. Mr. Coon is residing in Northmour.

Cinematic Chapter

Everyone who knows the first thing about baseball remembers Monty Stratton, the tall, rangy Texas kid with the easy grin who became a hero to millions. Well, now his story is done on the screen and will be shown at the Hugo Theatre Monday-Monday, with James Stewart playing Monty and June Allyson his lovely wife and a cast of the best players in Hollywood. The picture comes to you under the title "The Stratton Story." Here is a love story that can truly be labeled as tops among all romances. June Allyson is at her finest in this role, playing the part of a wife who stuck to her husband through all odds, even when the romance was almost broken up.

Jimmy Stewart never put more into a part than he does in this delightful story. His part fits him like a glove, and he has been referred to as "the spirit" image of Monty.

Frank Morgan is his old loveable self, warning his way right into your heart with his clever portrayal of the character he depicts.

Yes, you'll love every inch of "The Stratton Story" of that I'm sure.

See you at the Movies—Mal.

Thanksgiving

THIS MONTH WE CELEBRATE a day inaugurated by our forefathers to give thanks for the harvest, wrested from a hostile land at the sweat of their brows and often the risk of their lives.

We in the insurance business know that Thanksgiving days which come to some every day in the year. They are the people who, with worldly possessions damaged or destroyed, have been saved from financial loss or even ruin by the blessing of insurance.

They are the frugal people who have had the foresight to guard themselves against the hostile elements and the other hazards which threaten our daily existence, against which our forefathers fought and had no such protection.

Yes, we have many things to be thankful for in this great country of ours — and one of them is the institution of insurance.

Changes in Dike Plans Will Delay Road Work On State Road No. 80

On the fact that the Central and South Florida Flood District expects to make some changes in the proposed dike work in the Loxahatchee section, the plan to improve Road 80 from Loxahatchee to Twenty-Mile-Bend, the State Road Department, has called off bids for the improvement and relocation of the road, to await the changes contemplated.

Body of Dead Man Found In Canal Near Twenty Mile Bend

While James Wade, of Pahokee, was recently wending his way from a fishing trip on the Hillsboro canal west of Twenty Mile Bend, he noticed a flood of buzzards flying low above a certain spot. He investigated and found the partly decomposed body of a man lying on the shore, partly in and out of the water.

He notified Sheriff John Kirk and soon that official had an investigating crew at the site. The man was apparently around 50 years of age, but no trace of his identity was evidenced. The man's shoes were missing and his clothing a good quality. He had a tattoo across the right arm which read "Mother". In a palm label reading "Terry". He was wearing a white shirt, grey trousers, green and white tie and socks, was 5 feet and 10 inches tall and weighed about 185 pounds.

The body was found at a West Palm Beach mortuary, in hopes of making identity, but to date no information has been secured to set up who and from where he came.

The canal was dragged for quite a distance both ways from the spot where the body was located, hoping to find an auto or other clues, but nothing developed.

RAMS WIN OVER

On comparing the two teams, and record for the season, the Rams did seem a victory over the Alley lads, but Pahokee for several past seasons has been the record of upsetting the Rams.

At Memorial field, on the night of November 11, our Golden Rams met up with the Trojans, and in playing good and inspired football managed to defeat the visitors by the score 25 to 7. That victory was coveted by the Rams more than any other game on the schedule, for they were facing a team coached by "Bruiser" Cooke, their former player. The Rams also played fine ball as a testimonial to their head coach, "Doug" Lavitt, when they had won, the team carried him off the field on their shoulders in wild acclaim, aided by the entire school band.

A crowd of around 5,000 gathered at the field for the game, making a neat attendance record. Spectators saw a well played and clean game, and the officiating was the best that the Rams have run up against this season, even though they did draw two severe penalties, which did not count in the final issue. The band entertainment between halves was very fine, and the best yet presented at the field.

The Rams and Trojans had met in six previous games, with each having won three games, and this was sort of a rubber game, which to the delight of all Ram fans was won by the home team, in a convincing manner.

The Trojans this season have a reputation of gaining most of their leads and victories by means of their ground attack, but the Rams put an end to that plan, for they very successfully "bottled" up their plays by this method. The Trojans swung over to the passing game the latter part of the game, and scored their only touchdown on the shore, partly in and out of the water.

RAM—TROJAN HALP

(Continued from page 1) After that, the band moved into its original square formation, with the 18 majorettes on the other side, flanked two rows of 6 U. S. Flag bearers. Between the first band and a young lady stood on a red crepe-covered box and held a torch in the air, representing "Miss Liberty".

At this point the field lights were shut off, and while the band played soft patriotic music a serious touch was given in a reading over the public address system, declaring, as on every Armistice Day we declare, the stand for freedom that all Americans take. Rendered during that solemn moment were "America The Beautiful" and "God Bless America."

After that impressive show, the Trojans gave the gridiron over to the Ram band BGHS Glee Club. The Rams marched on from the west end, converging on the field like a fan, and led, as usual, by the mascot, a big, sure-enough Ram. The real article.

The first formations were the letters "LW", in a mighty salute to the Trojans of Lake Worth. Marching behind the new, "Go, Belle Glade High," with words, and Sousa's "The Thunderbolt." The Glee Club, from the east goal line, came on eighty-strong, 40 girls in red alternated with 40 in white, and flanked on their right by a line of boys in blue choir robes. The Rams rambled highly-spiritedly, and sang it beautifully—twice. At the request of the P. A. system, the fans, gave them a boost on the second go-round.

Marching off the field to the tune of "Belle Glade Will Shine" (and how they did!), the whole parade thrilled the 3000-odd fans to the marrow. We might put in a word for Johnny Robinson, the Ram mascot, twirled, and Janie Twister, the girl he twirled.

The Golden Rams just felt they had to win this game. Many fans said that they felt a keener interest in winning this game than in the tradition of Pahokee tangle. In taking it, the Rams rambled highly-spiritedly, and sang it beautifully—twice. At the request of the P. A. system, the fans, gave them a boost on the second go-round.
